

Amendments to the Specification

Please add the following new paragraph after paragraph [00036]:

[00037] It should be noted that the optical network component discussed above may have other functions such as optical signal amplification, optical signal attenuation, optical signal processing, addition of optical signals, deletion of at least one optical signal from the optical carrier, and/or retransmission of the optical carrier in the manner of an optical repeater.
